

ABSTRACT

Particles of mixed metal oxide include at least two metal species. The particles have a grain size within the range of 1-100nm. The particles are substantially crystalline. The particles contain only small or negligible amounts of amorphous material. The at least two metal species are uniformly dispersed in the particles.